A Faith Worth Passing Down

Dr. Charles Stanley, In Touch Ministries 2 Timothy 1:3-5

The most precious thing we can pass down to our children is our faith—the confident conviction that God is who He says He is and will do all He has promised. Timothy’s strong relationship with Christ didn’t materialize out of thin air; it grew because his mother and grandmother were godly examples.

Here are ways we, too, can hand down a rich legacy to the next generation:

Teach practical biblical principles. Kids need to know God’s views on matters such as material wealth (Ps. 24:1), the way to meet needs (Phil. 4:19), and direction in life (Prov. 3:5-6).

Model character through lifestyle. How we live—whether with transparency, peace, and perseverance, or with fear, anxiety, and self-reliance—loudly communicates what we believe about our heavenly Father.

Serve God by serving others. Actions show our faith is real (James 2:26). If we want children not to develop a self-centered perspective, servanthood is key.

Intercede for them. Kids won’t forget hearing us pray regularly for them.

Communicate love to them. Young people need to know we love them the way that God loves us—unconditionally rather than based on what they do or don’t do. Spoken words of love breathe life into their heart. And as we affirm them for trusting God, they see that we value their spiritual growth.

As parents and grandparents, we must be intentional about leading and inspiring our sons and daughters & grandchildren to follow Jesus Christ. But even people without children of their own can leave a legacy. The example to follow is Paul: Though neither married nor a natural parent, he was a spiritual father to many. (See 1 Cor. 4:14-16.)

RESPONSIVE READING

Psalm 90:1-10, 12

- LEAD: LORD, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations.
- CONG: Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting thou art God.
- LEAD: Thou turnest man to destruction; and sayest, Return, ye children of men.
- CONG: For a thousand years in thy sight are but as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night.
- LEAD: Thou carriest them away as with a flood; they are as a sleep: in the morning they are like grass which growth up.
- CONG: In the morning it flourisheth, and growth up; in the evening it is cut down, and withereth.
- LEAD: For we are consumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled.
- CONG: Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, our secret sins in the light of thy countenance.
- LEAD: For all our days are passed away in thy wrath: we spend our years as a tale that is told.
- CONG: The days of our years are threescore years and ten, and if by reason of strength they be fourscore years, yet is their strength labour and sorrow; for it is soon cut off, and we fly away.
- LEAD: So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom.
